

everything from the input ... out

Alpha Numeric Display Systems by Burroughs, designed around new Alpha Numeric Nixie® Tubes, give you everything from the input ... out. These systems are adaptable to any kind of electronic information display requirements. System flexibility is enhanced by the use of standard highly reliable semi-conductor modules. Standard packages include memory-driver modules, decoding and encoding devices, and associated control circuitry. The modular concept facilitates custom design of display systems to meet individual functional and physical specifications. Visual display is made particularly effective by unique tube characteristics ...unexcelled brightness and continuous line characters...which provide exceptional readability. In addition, any one of a number of available character sizes may be incorporated in a system to provide the best display for a given situation or application.

Burroughs' display systems group is available for consultation on your particular requirements. Write today for complete information on Burroughs Alpha Numeric Display Systems.

